Flu clinic

Late comers will be served

Every year the ladies of the Wilmington Women's Club sponsor a clinic, to help prevent influenza among the older folk of Wilmington. Every year it grows in scope. This year it outgrew the planning.

Three hundred and ninety-one were administered injections, Sunday, at the Wildwood School. This was over forty more than were treated a year ago. The number treated was forty less than the number of persons who had called at the school before one p.m., the closing time. Those who were present, but who did not receive the injections will be notified of a later clinic, at which they will be treated.

Dr. Gerald Fagan, Wilmington physician, was not present, for the first time in some years. Dr. Fagan is undergoing treatment for arthritis.

The administering of the injections was by three ladies, all registered nurses, Anne Butters, Joan Bachman and Barbara Dayton.

Where the immovable object might meet be hit by the irresistible force

IN THE GLEN ACRES: Real estate development, looking uphill toward Washington Avenue. Washington Avenue extension is the paved section on top. The sign says "Private Property - No Trespassing."

Remember, gentle reader, the old theorem from high school days about what happens when an immovable object is hit by an irresistible force? It was, of course, a joke, for nothing is absolutely immovable or absolutely irresistible.

It is entirely possible that something may happen to prove or disprove that old theorem up at the end of Washington Avenue, which is an old street that goes uphill, north westerly, from Clark Street. Builder Jay Tighe has a real estate development off Glen Road, with over half a million dollars invested in construction. The Wilmington Planning Board has a substantial bond from Tighe, to guarantee that the roads will be built, and in the guarantee is the construction of a road to connect the development with Washington Avenue.

Last week the Planning Board ordered Tighe to make the connection. They have the bond - Tighe's money - so they may be called the irresistible Force, and Tighe must build - or lose his money.

The Board of Selectmen, two weeks ago ordered that no road be built. Are they an Immovable Object?

In any event Jay Tighe seems to be in the middle.

Jewel Road not quite approved

Tuesday evening the Wilmington Planning Board discussed with representatives of the Jewel Manufacturing Company the plans for Jewel Road, which is to be constructed off Eames Street, in the 40-acre lot developed by the Wilmington Redevelopment Authority. The discussion was not completed, in that the Wilmington Planning Board wants still another plan, but things were remarkably smooth, for a real estate development in Wilmington.

The principal spokesman for Jewel was Paul Hanglin, engineer. He is a soft spoken person with a lot of experience, to judge by the answers he gave to the Planning Board questions, mostly asked by Vice Chairman Robert Leahy.

The best way to explain what was happening is to ask the reader to imagine that Hanglin was standing at home plate, in batting practice, with Bob Leahy throwing the balls from the pitcher's box. Hanglin never missed. There were pop flies, there were grounders, and there were a few curves, but Hanglin was ready for everything that Leahy threw to him.

Jewel Road, as it is to be named, will go down the center of the proposed industrial development. It will be about 1500 feet long. There will be a turn-around at the end, and there is a small brook in that vicinity. Hanglin and Leahy discussed that brook for some time. Hanglin didn't want to make final definitions until the time had come to do so. Leahy wanted the brook, as it was proposed to be, on the plan. It was one of the few places where there was disagreement. Jewel Manufacturing will submit a new plan, showing the brook as proposed, and a few more items.

Among the points that were discussed. There will be no underground wiring, for the electric power lines, as has been the case in other recent real estate developments in Wilmington.

Hanglin objected. He said that if there were a facility in the area that was using 15 kv (kilovolts) at the end, and another facility was using a few more kilovolts there could be a short circuit that would blow out the entire Reading Municipal Light. Then he amended his statement to say "the entire Eastern seaboard."

Leahy demurred to say something to the effect that "you don't always have to believe the Reading Light." Hanglin countered "I do." That ended the conversation on that point.

Leahy wanted a three inch top coat on the road surface. Hanglin wanted two inches. He had proposed a four inch sub-surface paving, and went on to argue that three inches was entirely too much. Leahy agreed.

Leahy brought up the subject of sidewalks. Hanglin described them as unnecessary, and "an encouragement to vandalism." They both agreed that a sidewalk might be okay for Eames Street.

They discussed trees. Hanglin objected to planting any, along the road. He didn't want bushes, either. Where there were natural trees growing - encourage them to continue growing, but no planting. Mr. Leahy agreed. Hanglin returned to the subject of sidewalks. "If you put in trees and shrubs you obscure the view for trucks - if you put in sidewalks in an industrial subdivision you are asking for trouble."

Jewel Manufacturing will have to submit another plan, before final acceptance is made.

Protective Screen Fences over Interstate Route 93

Representative Fred F. Cain, Wilmington, announced this week that the Massachusetts Department of Public Works has set up a program in which the DPW will set up protective screen fences, on all bridges over Route 93.

Cain, last spring sought the protective fence for the Park Street Bridge, after an accident there. At that time the state DPW was unable to comply with the request, because of some restrictions on the Federal funds that would have been involved.

The new program is not only for the Park Street bridge, but for all bridges.

The beer can syndrome It is almost like a game

It is almost like a game, in the Town of Wilmington. Adults, parents, selectmen, town officials, police and others have a problem on account of (1) beer and beer cans, (2) other stronger liquors, (3) gang vandalism and (4) the disappearing sign game.

Young people, fifteen to eighteen years old, are mostly involved. Sometimes, indeed many times, the age is younger. Both girls and boys take part. There is on occasion a considerable sign of belligerency towards adults, who may be only trying to help.

The churches try. The result seems to be less beer and more liquor - something that can be hidden from the eyes of an adult chaperone. One youthful offender was delivered home to the to his surprised parents recently suffering from eight ounces of mixed vodka and other beverages, imbibed at a church function. He is fortunate that he is alive.

The young people who play the game of out-witting the clergy are not the same persons who use the parking lot for beer parlors. Almost every school parking lot in Wilmington is so used, and there are beer cans galore off Wiser Street, and the area on both sides of the road to the former Silver Lake railroad station is literally covered with beer cans. Other places will come to mind, for the readers, but they are not so bad - except that there are some places in the woods which could be called Beer Can Mines.

That, to some adults, is okay. Just stay out of our sight - don't bother us and we won't bother you seems to be the feeling of more than a few persons. Just stay in those woods and you will be okay.

It bothers the Wilmington selectmen. They have agonized over the subject.

One selectman wants to buy a place where young people can go and have a good time, and (presumably) drink beer to their heart's content, or at least drink beer. His intentions, it may be said, are of the best. He sees the problem as few others see it.

As the result of selectmen's deliberations last spring signs were erected in about twenty places, reminding the readers about littering and warning that licenses could be suspended. The signs did not last 24 hours. They were pulled up and they disappeared.

New signs were put in place, with bases imbedded in concrete. Those signs stayed, but no one paid attention. It was difficult to catch someone throwing a beer can out of a car.

Last March the Town Meeting voted against the drinking of beverages in the open, on parking lots, and on private land without permission of the land owner. That by-law has been approved by the Attorney General.

A little over a week ago new signs appeared in the various parking lots. "No drinking of alcoholic beverages. Violators will be prosecuted."

The parking lots, suddenly, were almost empty. Where ten or twenty cars were parked before, in the evening, there were now two or three. In the morning there were no tell-tale beer cans.

That lasted until October sixth, which was a Sunday. That night all the signs disappeared. No one saw them go. Bolt cutters, or something like that seems to have been used.

New signs were put up Monday - twenty of them. It is almost like a game.

New interior wood surfaces generally can be cleaned simply by wiping them with a rag soaked in a solvent such as mineral spirits or turpentine. Just wipe.

This will remove dust, grease and dirt, and leave the surface of the wood clean enough for painting or other finishing. If oil or wax has been spilled on the surface, it can be removed by repeated solvent washes, followed immediately by wiping with a clean dry rag.

When you want building materials for many different kinds of jobs, SWEENEY HOME COUNTRY CENTER, 415 Main St., Wilmington, 658-2001 is the place to come. Marie's Song

You made me forget tears
That I was still holding
And making me laugh hard
You brought out me
You let me feel raindrops
Which started me dreaming
You'll always be with me
May I always be here.

With your arms around me
And my shoulders still shaking
You've brushed off the cold and
You've pushed back the fear
With all my love for you
Enough I can't give you
In my own special way.

Camp Forty Acres Cleanup Campaign

Camp Forty Acres, the Wilmington Youth Camp in North Wilmington was hit by a tornado on September 29th - the same tornado which was more publicized because it went through Tewksbury. Oak trees were downed, and the camp was in a mess.

There was a story last week, in the Town Crier, and a notice that Saturday was to be a work day at Forty Acres.

Scout Troop 136 and Cub Scout Pack 136 were among those who responded, and that is a story. They weren't in Wilmington when they heard the news - they were in a camp in Dracut.

There were many Boy Scouts and dads who responded, with saws, and axes, and power saws. After all, it isn't often that one can chop away in perfect freedom at new fallen oaks.

The boys in Dracut - they took the Long Distance Record: The American Legion Post 136 troop and pack piled into their bus (Batholomew) Saturday morning, and driven by Scoutmaster Tom MacFeeley, headed back to Wilmington. They arrived at Forty Acres earlier than did some of the other Scouts and Scouters.

The cleanup lasted half a day. Everything was done that could be done. Those who had just come from Wilmington went back home. Troop and Pack 136 went back to Dracut. They had that weekend to finish up - and work on shotgun safety and marksmanship, and such subjects.

WAYNE MARDEN: Troop 59, cuts a fallen oak with a power saw.

THE WEBELOS DEN OF PACK 136: And fallen oak logs. The leader is Ed Barlow, and the Assistant Leader is Dick Yurek. Webelos Scouts shown include Ricky Carpenter, Steve Barlow, Scott Ramanowski, Tommy Ellis, Glen Barlow and Teddy Sarasin.

Career opportunities for high schoolers

Helping high school students from 14 Northern Middlesex County towns find career opportunities was the major focus of a career education conference held late last month at Fitchburg State College.

Among those attending were teachers, guidance counselors and administrators from Wilmington and Tewksbury High Schools and Shawheen Tech. The conference was sponsored by Project ASCOE (Alternatives for Students in Career and Occupational Education), an ESSEA Title III funded program of the Merrimack Education Center in Chelmsford.

President James Hammond of Fitchburg State College introduced the conference with an examination of unemployment problems, rapidly changing manpower needs, and the deterioration of the work ethic. He explained that work has become less and less visible and meaningful part of the world in which young people grow up. The burden of relating the world of work to students thus falls increasingly upon the schools, he added.

James Carroll, Area Coordinator for the Shawheen Valley Vocational Technical High School, discussed the implementation and benefits of integrating career education throughout the kindergarten to twelfth grade instructional program, detailing such hoped-for outcomes for students as the development of a career identity, economic understanding, employment skills, social fulfillment and career placement.

The conference concluded with a discussion of manpower needs and career opportunities by Ronald Jackson of the Massachusetts Advisory Council on Education. During the coming year, Project ASCOE will also conduct a number of local and regional programs.

Local educators who attended the conference were Wilmington High School Principal Bernard McMahon, with Math Teacher Tom Woodbury; Industrial Arts Department Chairman Alfred S. Hamblon and Guidance Counselor Marjorie A. Marshall.

From Tewksbury High School were Social Studies Teacher Robert MacDougall, Home Economics Teacher Lynda Turner and Jane Roche.

"EVERYTHING FOR THE HOME"

Masters to master Church school program

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Masters of 386 North Billerica Road, Tewksbury have been named as Co-Directors of Christian Education at the Tewksbury Congregational Church.

They will assume over-all responsibility for the Church's educational program for youngsters ranging from aged three years through high school, and will coordinate summer youth conference for youth and adults.

In announcing the appointment, the Rev. David C. Williams reported that "We have been fortunate in having such highly qualified, enthusiastic and sincere leadership within our own midst, and I cherish the coming months of planning and resourcing our Church School with such persons as Bob and Rita Masters."

The local church's Religious Education Committee made the appointment after receiving the resignation of Mrs. Margot Abbot, who with her family will be moving to Keene, N.H., later this fall. Bob Masters was born in England, the son of an orthopedic surgeon, who soon after Bob's birth was assigned to medical work in Southern Rhodesia under the American Board of Foreign Missions.

Bob lived five of his early years in Africa, before arriving in the United States at age seven. He graduated in 1967 from Earlham College and in 1970 from the Eden Theological Seminary in Webster Groves, Missouri. He is presently employed by Blue Cross-Blue Shield in Boston.

Rita Masters was graduated from Central Missouri State University in 1966 and taught public schools for five years in Indiana and Missouri. They were married in 1968 and have two children, Carolyn, three and Sara, four months and have been residents of Tewksbury since 1972.

Active in the local Church since arriving in Tewksbury, Bob has served as a church school teacher, adult Bible study class teacher and as a member of the board of deacons. Rita has served on the finance committee of the church and as church school superintendent for the past year.

Double renewal of vows

MR. AND MRS. JOHN MANNING: Of Raymond, N.H., and Mr. and Mrs. George Deveau of Wilmington, Mass., in the foyer of St. Thomas Church, before their special Mass on October 4th.

St. Thomas Church, on October 4th was the site for a unique renewal of marriage vows - by two couples, related, who were married in Amesbury, in the same church, one pair twenty-five years ago and the other fifty years ago.

John and Helen Manning live in Raymond, New Hampshire. Fifty years ago, in 1924, they were married in St. Joseph's, Amesbury, Mass.

Their daughter is Mary Deveau, of Edwards Road, Wilmington. Twenty-five years ago, in 1949, in the same church, she married George Deveau.

All four renewed their marriage vows in St. Thomas, on October 4th, in a special Mass, celebrated by the Rev. Fr. Edward Gaudette of St. Bridget's, in Lexington. Father Gaudette is an old family friend. There was a post mass dinner for all, in the Knickerbocker Club, in Lowell.

TEC lends support to recycling program

The Tewksbury Environmental Conference (TEC) has released a statement to residents urging them to cooperate in the town's trash recycling program. The statement follows:

"The Tewksbury Environmental Conference has conducted a recycling center for almost three years. During this time many concerned and dedicated people have given much time and effort to the program; from those who believe strongly in recycling and saved and prepared their recyclables to those who, rain or shine, were manning the recycling center."

"Recycling must become a way of life in America. One need only realize that there is only so much iron, aluminum, glass-quality sand in the world to realize also that a throw away philosophy will only end in total depletion of many limited resources. While trees are renewable only so many trees can be grown per acre and on only so many acres and they take years to develop. Fifty to one hundred years from now we may not have real wood furniture. Good or bad, which is debatable, simple recycling policies will help make this a more realistic question."

"Land for dumps is becoming a very difficult quantity to get, both due to cost and location. Waste management is America's number one problem - admit it or not! The Tewksbury Board of Health has seen fit to start a town wide separated paper pick-up. Paper is the simplest item of waste to manage. Everyone is going to help and the benefits should be three fold: 1. more dump space; 2. resource recovery; 3. return of some money to the town. The first benefit will extend the life of the town dump. The second will benefit residents in years to come."

"The third, while not probably much, is money that is now being wasted in all senses of the word! The resolution passed by the Board of Health says if paper is disposed of as trash. Why? Many people now save it for various causes and it is sold back to the mills. This is well and good! That is the idea!"

"Unfortunately some people are either over zealous or careless and mix food scraps or dog papers with recycling material. This is a no-no. While 37% of waste material is paper, it is expected that only 10% will be recovered with the limitation of newspaper, magazines, and corrugated cardboard. Junk mail, napkins, food wrappers, paper plates, etc. are not desired by the paper mills that will be getting the paper from Tewksbury and to add this to your material will in fact only slow down the operation and cut down any profit due to the cost of the time to remove it from the load before it is baled."

"With all residents cooperating, the program will be a big success. Bagging or putting desired paper in small corrugated boxes would be most desirable. Tying is still quite acceptable."

"We thank all our faithful and remind them that we will still be at the center each first weekend and will still take glass, cans, aluminum, and yes - paper, but we hope you will take advantage of the town-wide paper pick up program. The E and D fund is as good as our fund and it will lower the taxes. O.K.!!!"

"Some people always miss printed news, so talk the program up please. Details on the program will come shortly."

Subdivision okay tied to land development

The Tewksbury planning board has told developers reap-approval of a disapproved subdivision Pond will hang on an agreement the firm extend the only road in the development into land south of the pond when that is developed.

Planners told Frank Sorocco, representing the Tambone Corporation, that their prime reason for disapproving Merrimack Valley Mall subdivision earlier this year was creation of a deadend road on the development's only street. The street, Radcliffe Road, enters the mall from Andover Road.

Board members said if Tambone wanted the subdivision approved, the road would have to be extended to North Street. That would take it through land Tambone hopes to build a multi-million dollar complex of condominiums and apartment buildings. He plans a state-financed low and moderate income project on the other side of the pond.

Planners were acting in response to a draft agreement submitted to them by Sorocco. The draft agreement, which he wanted them to sign, would guarantee their approval of the subdivision.

In return for approval, the agreement stressed the firm or anyone who bought the mall from it would extend Radcliffe Road through Tambone property south of the lake to North Street within 20 years. This would only be done, however, if the firm constructed "improvements on their property to the south of Radcliffe Road... so that the volume of traffic on Radcliffe Road is significantly increased."

Planners feared Tambone might not develop the land within 20 years, and approval of the subdivision would in the end mean another deadend street in the town.

Sorocco was told planners wanted the subdivision approval conditional on extension of the road through the property to the south, no matter how far in the future the land was developed.

Junior high parents asked to join group

A parents' discussion group is being formed at Tewksbury Junior High School. The group would meet monthly to discuss programs and problems of interest to parents of junior high school students.

Meetings would be held once each month from 7 to 9 p.m. on a Wednesday, usually the fourth Wednesday of the month.

Principal Richard E. Griffin has urged parents to join the group. He stresses the school has no PTA, so the group would be a forum for parents to discuss things on their mind concerning their children's school life.

St. William's Drill Team enjoys banquet

by Cathy Pacini

The members of St. William's Drill Team and their families enjoyed a deluxe roast beef dinner on the night of September 18 at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Tewksbury.

The head table guests included the Rev. Patrick Hollywood O.M.I.; Tony Pupa, drill team instructor; Phyllis Pupa, quartermaster; Nancy Barsamian, instructor; Cathy Boisvert, captain; Janet Fay, secretary; Sandy Philbrook, treasurer and Bill Saulnier.

Tony Pupa was MC. He introduced Father Hollywood, who thanked the girls for their hard work and participation in the program.

Cathy Boisvert, an 11-year veteran retiring from the drill team, was given a standing ovation.

Patty Holden represented the girls in presenting Miss Boisvert a ceramic bowling pin lamp. Patty read a special letter on behalf of all the girls in St. William's Drill team, to let Miss Boisvert know how they felt about her.

On the field Miss Boisvert was their captain, and off the field their friend. She was there to bring up their spirits when they lost and shared in the joy when they won. She taught them not only to respect others, but to respect themselves. The girls felt Cathy Boisvert gave the drill team spirit and dedication.

Cathy thanked the girls but let them know she would still be around to help Nancy.

Miss Boisvert presented Tony Pupa a plaque in appreciation of the time and effort he has given to St. William's Drill Team.

Nancy Barsamian told the girls how great they were and expressed her sorrow with Cathy's retirement. She also received a standing ovation.

There are 40 girls on St. William's Drill Team between the ages of eight and seventeen. The team competes summer and winter in the C.Y.O. circuit in the Boston Archdiocese.

FISH provides benefits for many

"Could someone please come in an hour or so a day to give my wife lunch and keep her company? I just have to work and she's dying of cancer." Such a request was received recently at 651-4441, the Tewksbury FISH answering service number.

The call was relayed to the phone volunteer on duty for that day who used her list of "housework for sick," "provide a meal," and the "companionship" to schedule volunteers for the next couple of days. Then she referred the call to Mrs. Ronnie Doherty, the FISH continuing case coordinator to handle.

The "driver of the day" who was on call to provide transportation needed that day drove the volunteer to and from the patient's house. Should she have been out on another call at the time the phone duty volunteer would have gone to her list of "alternate drivers" to provide the service.

Any service for which FISH has a volunteer is provided on an emergency or temporary basis free to Tewksbury residents by calling 651-4441 and explaining the need. Most services requested in the 750 calls received this year have been for transportation.

The service works closely with the town's mini-bus which is often busy on out-of-town calls when a ride is needed.

FISH, however, does not

Some volunteers have taken their patient home for a holiday dinner treat or brought that person a birthday surprise.

For a few weeks, daily housework was being done in the home of a multiple sclerosis patient. Last month baby furnishings and clothing were supplied to a young mother in dire need of them.

On three occasions this year furniture and clothing was donated to families hit badly by fires in their homes. Very many means have been brought into homes where post-operative patients were recuperating, mothers were ill, or parents were hospitalized.

Many patients, some of them children, have been transported on a daily or weekly basis for outpatient treatment at the Solomon Mental Health Center in Lowell, to the Speech Clinic in Lawrence, and to the Rehabilitation Center in Woburn.

Much help in securing teenage volunteers, swim class drivers, and for the new lunch program at the Anne Sullivan Center has been secured through FISH and its member churches.

Presently, advice and support have been sought from the steering committee members by persons interested in setting up FISH programs in Lowell and Dracut. There are FISH programs all over the world, with other successful ones nearby in Andover, Billerica and Wilmington.

Each October new lists of volunteers are compiled for the telephone duty volunteers to work from. More help in all areas is needed, especially drivers. Volunteer commitment sheets will be available in all local churches during October and in this newspaper.

Research survey in Wilmington

Interviewers from the Survey Research Center of the University of Michigan will begin contacting families in Wilmington next week in their regular quarterly survey of public attitudes.

This is part of a national survey of 1500 people being conducted in 74 areas of the United States.

The survey asks respondents to express their views about present business and economic conditions, as well as possible future trends. In addition, it asks about a variety of other topics, including housing arrangements for the elderly.

Results of the interviews will be published in statistical form. Findings are never identified with any individual person or address.

Each interview, however,

Dr. Harold Homefield TO ADDRESS ACLD

Dr. Harold Homefield, Wilmington's new administrator of pupil personnel services will be the guest speaker at a meeting of the Wilmington Association for Children with Learning Disabilities (ACLD) on Tuesday, October 15, at 8:00 p.m. on the conference room of the Wilmington Memorial Library. Dr. Homefield will discuss his role as the overall supervisor of the counseling services, special education and health services departments. Chapter 796, its implementation and its effect on Wilmington will also be discussed in the informal "rap session" format of the meeting.

ACLD, whose slogan is "Advocates for children with special needs" is hoping to increase its membership this year, so that it can better fulfill its goal of furthering the cause of all children with special needs; whether those needs are physical, emotional or educational. Wilmington ACLD tries to keep parents informed on developments in the field, whom to see and where to go when they have problems, as well as working for and supporting the continued improvement of available services in the Wilmington schools.

For further information, parents and interested friends are urged to attend the meeting on October 15, or call Barbara Cogan, president at 658-5532.

Laminated glass is the safest material for automobile windshields, and the law requires that all new cars in North America be so equipped.

The laminated glass yields and cracks more easily at point of impact, and the plastic core stretches. At lower speeds this elastic action reduces injury by absorbing some of the shock.

Tempered glass will stand harder blows, but when it does break it shatters into thousands of pieces.

Follow the Leader?

Follow the leader is a game that children play. It also is the reelection slogan of Republican Sheriff John Buckley.

John Buckley has been in office for four years. He has overspent his budget, wasted federal funds, and started programs that can not work. His budget has gone up 26%.

In 1974, for example, he piled up $45,366.55 in unpaid bills that now can not be paid without special approval by the state legislature.

Walter Sullivan, the Democratic candidate for sheriff, has been in government for 15 years as a former state representative, a Cambridge City Councilor, and as Mayor of Cambridge and Chairman of the School Committee.

He has built a reputation as a sound, effective administrator. He's honest and he's a Democrat.

Paul Fitch reports to Western Conn. State

Paul Fitch of Wilmington, has reported to the start of fall drills for Western Connecticut State College's varsity football team.

Paul played football, hockey and ran track for four years at Wilmington High; lettered three times in each sport. He was an All-Merrimack Valley League defensive halfback, and will be used at fullback this season. He's a 6-1, 185 pound freshman at Western.

Head Coach Dave Rice said Western Connecticut's hopes for a strong season ride on development of new talent, and he plans to concentrate his efforts on developing a strong offensive attack. Last year, Rice's efforts to build a strong defense paid off with Western winding up with the number one small college pass defense.

Western opened its season September 21st at Bridgewater State. The first home game was a night affair on Friday, October 4th against Plymouth State, one of two home night games on the schedule this year.

WILDCAT TALES

Bellissimo chalks up 100th Gridders bounce back

Bob Aprile vaulted the fallen line of the Wildcats with just 9:48 left to play in the error-filled contest to score Wilmington's lone TD and give Coach Bellissimo his 100th career win as head coach as the locals nipped Lawrence Central Catholic, 7-6.

The Wildcats were plagued with penalties throughout the game with a total of 70.5 yards in fractions called against the varsity. Most of the play concentrated in the Central Catholic zone in the opening stanza, and a 29 yard punt by Paul Shimkonis to the Wilmington two put the Wildcats deep in their own zone late in the period. The Red Raiders got a taste of the penalties when Aprile carried the ball to the six yard line and fumbled, only to have Frank Froton of Central recover. A penalty on the Central Catholic squad gave Wilmington the ball right back and ended that short-lived threat.

Carl Butler picked off a Pat Welch aerial in the second frame at the Wilmington 27 yard line, while Mike Mazzola put the pressure on Welch.

The Wildcats couldn't move the ball, the two teams exchanged punts, and Wilmington got the ball again with 4:00 left in the half. Senior end Dana Mullarky made a diving catch off a Jim Stewart pass good for 14 yards, and on the next play, Bob Bavota scampered 27 yards to the Red Raider 15, but the run was nullified because of an offside penalty. The Wildcats couldn't move the ball at all in their next six plays, and the bid to score went down the drain.

Jim Barbagallo led the Red Raiders right at the start of the third quarter, juggling the ball for Central and brought Lawrence to the Wilmington 14 yard line. Two consecutive penalties brought the ball back to the 24 yard line and on fourth and 21, a bad snap on the punt attempt got Central Catholic only four yards, and the Wildcat varsity defense bottled up that threat.

After Bavota threw a halfback option pass to Mullarky to put the ball on the 50 yard line and bring the game into the fourth period, Bob started on his running spree. Two consecutive runs, one for 15 yards and the other for 39 and a TD were nullified because of penalties. A 45 yard run for yet another score was also negated because of a penalty.

With Tri-captain Bavota doing the bulk of the workhorse running, Coach Bellissimo's eleven drove to the 11 yard line. Stewart connected with Mazzola on a line yard pass to bring the ball to the two, and Aprile went in for the score. Jack Styles kicked the P.A.T., and Wilmington won, 7-6.

Jim Stewart started his first game in a varsity uniform calling the signals. Jim passed 11 times, completing three for 35 yards. Back Bob Bavota led all runners with 14 carries for 79 yards to up his three game total to 331 yards in 68 totes.

Wilmington will open its home slate this Saturday at WHS field hosting Lawrence High. Kickoff time is 1:30 pm.

Harriers run past Tewksbury, Billerica

Fri. Oct. 4th: The Wildcats topped Tewksbury last Friday, 23-24. Redman distance ace Jim Stronach smashed the course record by over 30 seconds enroute to a 12:56.3 clocking. The previous record was set by Dragut's Mike Notini three years ago.

Captains Doug Spring and Ian MacInnis finished second and third respectively, only one second apart and both under the school record.

Tewksbury's Mike Hurton gained a fourth, followed by the Wildcats' Pete McNaughton (5), Barry Foster (6) and Captain Mark Blaisdell (7).

In the junior varsity race, Gary Balestrieri gained a fourth as the Wildcats were overwhelmed by the Redman jayvees' Lenny Graves and Chris DeLuca again looked good, while Tim Sughrue, Tom Walsh and Mark Peabody gained the top spots for the freshman contingent.

Rock McCully reports cross country for the Town Crier.

Mon. Oct. 7th: Coach Kelley's crew grabbed the top three places in under 14:00 to gain a convincing 21-36 win over Billerica. Ian MacInnis gained his first win in dual meet action this season, defeating teammate Doug Spring with MacInnis clocked in 13:47 and Spring only five seconds behind.

Pete McNaughton checked in at 13:58 recording his career best for third place with Barry Foster (6) and a surprising Charlie Zaverson besting Mark Blaisdell and Tony Gravallese for the seventh spot.

Gary Balestrieri's third place was again tops for the defeated jayvees' with Lenny Graves and Ken Liston showing well. Tom Walsh, Tim Sughrue and Dave McNaughtan looked good for the freshmen.

Varsity goes after its fifth str., at just in Austin Prep, Friday October 11th at 3:30 pm.

WILMINGTON YOUTH HOCKEY

Attention Wilmington hockey fans - Bruins too expensive? Why not try attending the next Wilmington Bantam A team game Thursday October 10th (tonight) at 9:45 pm when the team meets Chelmsford.

The contest will extend an opportunity to see a thrilling fast skating group of local boys perform for no charge - and these days of inflation make this an unusual offer.

Last year as a Bantam B team and previously this group as Pee Wees topped their respective league. So far this season they are undefeated, besting Winthrop and Tewksbury so far.

On Thursday, October 3rd, the team defeated Tewksbury by a score of 8 to 3.

Goals scored by the following: Tighe the hat trick; Blaisdell two, Carlin two, Bavota one - assists went to Walden, Richards, Gracia, Bavota, Sheehan and Tighe.

During October the schedule is as follows at Rink Two of the Wilmington Youth Ice Arena:

Thurs. Oct. 10th, 9:45 pm, Chelmsford; Mon. Oct. 14th, 8:00 pm, Beverly Farms; Mon. Oct. 21st, 6:55 pm, North Reading and Mon. Oct. 28th, 9:45 pm, Medford.

Wilmington Bantam A Team would be extremely pleased to have local fans come out to see some excellent hockey played.

Mite A's (1-1-1): The A's skated to a 2-2 tie with Reading. Heading opened up the scoring with Wilmington coming right back on a nice rush by S. Lowmyer to tie it at 1-1 and the assist went to D. Moran.

In the second period Wilmington went ahead when a scramble in front of the net allowed J. Cornish to tuck one by the goalie. Reading scored again to end the period in a 2-2 tie. In the third period the defense held firm allowing only two shots on goal with Wilmington getting eight shots and no luck in front of the net.

Line captains for next week's game will be K. Robinson, J. Cornish and D. Boudreau.

Mite B (2-0-1): In a closely fought game the Mite B's edged Arlington 1-0 on a late second period score by David Fuller assisted by David Richards and Eric Marshall.

It was in the second shutout in three games for goalie Brian Surrette. The defensive unit of Jimmy Taylor, Robert Palmer, Dean Callaresso, and Eric Marshall held Arlington to three shots on net.

Squirt A (2-1-0): Ted Moran led coach Don MacDonald's Squirt A's by scoring two goals in the Squirt's second victory, this one over Chelmsford. Other goal scorers were Jeff Stouffer and Darryl MacDonald. Assists went to Dave Elliot, Chuck McNeil and Bob Williams with one apiece.

The Squirt A's next game is October 13th at 9:30 am against Beverly Farms at Wilmington Youth Ice Arena.

Squirt B 1's (2-0-0): the Wilmington Squirt B 1's continued their winning streak by topping a hard shooting Burlington Club 5-2 at the Wilmington Youth Ice Arena on Sunday. Bob Magliozzi started the team off by scoring an unassisted goal at 1:13 of the first period. Burlington bounced back to set the score at 2-1 at which time the B 1's turned on their strength.

Ray Darling connected at 6:55 of the second period, assisted by John Laliberte and Jon Wiberg and again at 9:24 of period three with assists going to John Laliberte and

Distaffs remain undefeated

The field hockey team is still undefeated. Last Wednesday varsity won against Tewksbury with the score ending at 2-1. Diane Pampalery scoring both goals for Wilmington.

Even though the team is not at full strength they played well. The next game at Chelmsford remained scoreless. Most of the action was concentrated at the Chelmsford end of the field. Our team failed to score. Goalie Carrie Arvanitis got to show her talents only twice as the defense did a great job keeping the ball away from the net.

The jayvee team is also undefeated, as they won both games, Tewksbury and Chelmsford. The score of the Tewksbury game was 1-0 as Capt. Barbara Moulton scored. The score of their game with Chelmsford was 2-1 as the scorers for that game were Tish Hatfield and Capt. Barbara Moulton.

Most of the jayvee team consists of freshmen and considering their record, they're not bad for beginners.

Maureen Howlett writes field hockey for the Town Crier.

PIONEER GIRLS PROGRAM OPEN TO ALL

Pioneer Girls! Does that sound old fashioned? Someone your great-grandmother might have been? Then, think again. Pioneer means to go before, to open the way. It can be fun and exciting. This is how we would describe the revised and expanded Pioneer Girls' Program at the First Baptist Church in Wilmington.

The program has expanded to include all girls in grades one through twelve and the format has been revised to meet the needs and interests of today's girls.

Pioneer Girls is a Christian organization that reaches out to all girls to help them discover they were uniquely created by God; to train girls to study scripture and apply it to daily life; to facilitate relationships that will be helpful toward personal growth; to provide group and individual experiences which will allow the development of the whole person; to involve the girl in the fellowship of any local church; to equip the girl as a Christian for service and outreach in the community.

Each division in the program is designed to help girls make the transitions necessary from childhood to teen to young adult. This program is open to all girls in the area.

Gene Ashton had done his homework

Every year, generally in October, the Rotary Club of Wilmington receives an official visit of the Governor of the Rotary District. There are 357 Rotary Governors throughout the world, and each has to visit each club in his district at least once a year, to be certain that the club is conforming to Rotary ideals and planning. Wilmington happens to be one of 46 clubs in Rotary District 793.

The Governor this year is Dr. Gene Ashton of Tufts University. He is a former president of Medford Rotary. His talk to Wilmington Rotary left the Wilmington members with the impression that they had a governor who knew what he was talking about.

It started the evening before, at the Middlesex Bank building in Burlington. Joe Maffeo, vice president of Middlesex is president of the Wilmington Rotary, and he was host to Gene Ashton and the officers and committee chairman of Wilmington Rotary.

That was the dinner which told the story - Gene did not have to use notes. He knew what the score was, right from the start.

For that was the dinner where the Governor comments on the annual reports made by committee chairmen on work done. Ordinarily it is a page turning affair, as the Governor checks up on the work of the committees.

Not with Gene. He just sat back in his chair and reviewed all the work that had been done - and without notes.

Gene Ashton, Rotary Governor, had done his homework.
